Brown County United Way Reinvests in Community Schools Initiative to Support Local Scholars and Families

GREEN BAY, WI – Brown County United Way is proud to announce a $150,000 reinvestment in its Community Schools Initiative for the 2024-2025 school year, expanding its impact to two schools: Howe Elementary Community School and Nicolet Elementary School. This renewed commitment builds on the success of the partnership between Brown County United Way and the Green Bay Area Public School District, ensuring greater access to critical resources for students, families, and the surrounding community.

Howe Elementary Community School, with 373 scholars in grades 4K through 5th, has been a cornerstone of the Community Schools Initiative since its inception. Nicolet Elementary School, now joining the initiative, serves 330 students in grades 4K through 5th. Together, these schools embody the Community School model as neighborhood hubs, offering academic, emotional, health, and social services to foster holistic support for scholars and their families.

Key Pillars of the Community Schools Initiative:

- Integrated student supports
- Expanded learning time and opportunities
- Family and community engagement
- Collaborative leadership and shared decision-making
- Partnerships with community organizations

“The Green Bay Area Public School District values the continued collaboration with Brown County United Way to create strong neighborhood schools that support students and their families,” said Vicki Bayer, Superintendent of Green Bay Area Public School District. “This reinvestment focuses on areas of critical need that will have a positive impact on student achievement.”

“This investment underscores Brown County United Way’s commitment to supporting local schools and families,” said Robyn Davis, President and CEO of Brown County United Way. “By expanding the Community Schools Initiative, we are working alongside our partners to create environments where students can excel academically and thrive personally.”

This reinvestment will address several critical needs identified by the schools, including:

- Integrating student and family supports into schools such as meals and health services
- Student and family engagement opportunities
- Initiatives to increase attendance

Brown County United Way's ongoing investment in the Community Schools Initiative demonstrates its unwavering commitment to creating pathways to success for all. By fostering collaboration among educators, families, and community partners, this initiative ensures that every child has the resources and support needed to excel.
