expansion builds upon Carex's existing presence in Madison and Milwaukee, signifying a deliberate move to deepen the company's roots across the state and solidify its commitment to businesses in the Northeast area.

At the heart of this growth is the announcement of Laura Strickland as Partner Success Manager for the Northeast region.

“Carex is thrilled to be officially expanding into Northeast Wisconsin. Laura's appointment marks a key milestone in our efforts to expand our services across the state. Her unique blend of local knowledge, along with professional experience is exactly what we need to advance our mission and build lasting and transparent relationships with employers and top talent. We are grateful to be making this investment into the community,” said Jake Siudzinski, Vice President of Partnership Growth at Carex Consulting Group.

Strickland, a native of Appleton, Wisconsin, brings a wealth of experience and a personal connection to the Green Bay and Fox Valley area. Having served as a lead recruiter and consultant at Carex Consulting Group for two years in Madison, her return to Northeast Wisconsin is a homecoming that promises to bridge Carex's expertise with local businesses' needs. Her role will focus on building strong partnerships with local organizations by leveraging her background in talent acquisition and relationship management.

Strickland expressed her enthusiasm about the new role, saying, "Returning to my roots in Northeast Wisconsin has been an exciting opportunity to engage with the community, ignite growth, and secure top talent to the region through Carex's innovative solutions."

As Carex steps into this new phase, it maintains a steadfast commitment to cultivating robust connections and linking top-tier talent with opportunities across the state. By broadening its reach, Carex Consulting Group not only enhances its services for clients and candidates alike but also contributes to the overall success of all the regions it serves.
